olgast went into that fight thinking hat he would have an easy mark in the person of K. O. Brown. Manager Jones went to see Brown fight Keyes. In that whole ten rounds Brown didn't use his BWolgast and gleefully told him that he Thad a one handed "sucker" to fight. And then down in Philadelphia Brown walked over and-bang!-thumped Wa!- that in order to down the victors we GP fast on the nose with his right, a dozon must strengthen our weak places without fines or more per round. Jones had assured him that all he need simply wait, let him etart it, and oear him to death with his own right. Wolfast posed and waited, and Brown beat HIM to the punch instead. Wolfast enjoyed that six rounds with Brown about as much as a schoolboy enjoys sticking his head into a horner nest.

I suppose that if Wolfast chances to drop Brown in their coming engagement with the wise ones will say. "I knew it. Wolfast pulled down there in Philadelliphia." There is a chance that Wolfast as wicked little fighter and a heavy puncher. But

The Boston folks had outgenerated us in our effort to fortify aurestives and they had been more liberal with their "rhina." Altogether we played lifty games that yether side.

NE-ROUND HOGAN looks like the real goods. He has a fighting face. When One-Round and nockout get together the for will fly wo good names like that ought to put up a great article of arrapping. Hogan is playing a hard one for his first special personnel in the East. And K. O., I might mention, isn't lingering along in "Pop" Fourth in Batting.
